YOU ASKED WHAT HARVESTING MEANT

Do you remember the time we went apple picking? The apples were as green as the leaves, but you said They're ripe. They're ripe. I put my head in your shoulder joint, imagining what it feels like, to be pulled fruit before it's thick and sweet.